CompanyBackground

Safe Spaces is a specialist cleaning service developed from my existing business, Home Sweet Home Housekeeping. Operating across Berkshire, Hampshire, and Kent, I have built extensive hands-on experience delivering professional cleaning services within private homes, rental properties, and environments requiring a controlled and safety-focused approach.

From the outset, my focus has been on developing the expertise and capability to operate within the specialist and biohazard sector. Safe Spaces was established to provide professional, reliable services in trauma cleaning, hoarding environments, needle and sharp sweeps, and other high-risk or contaminated settings.

I lead a dedicated, close-knit team, allowing me to maintain direct oversight across all projects and ensure consistent standards, accountability, and attention to detail. This hands-on approach underpins the quality and reliability of the service we provide.

Every aspect of the business has been built around delivering work that is safe, compliant, and carried out to a high professional standard. We take pride in managing complex & sensitive situations with confidence, discretion, and efficiency, ensuring properties are fully restored to a safe and manageable condition.

Safe Spaces is committed to maintaining strong professional relationships with landlords, housing providers, local authorities, and private clients, and is recognised for delivering dependable, high-quality specialist cleaning services.

How SafeSpaces Can Help You

Safe Spaces provides specialist cleaning services across a wide range of environments affected by hazardous or sensitive contamination. Our work is focused on restoring safety, cleanliness, and peace of mind in both residential and commercial settings, regardless of the circumstances.

We carry out the safe removal and decontamination of biohazard materials, including blood, bodily fluids, and other potentially infectious substances. These services are often required following traumatic incidents, unattended deaths, accidents, or situations involving infectious risk. Every project is managed using professional-grade equipment, strict protective measures, and proven cleaning processes to ensure all hazards are thoroughly eliminated and disposed of in full compliance with UK regulations.

In addition to trauma and biohazard cleaning, we support clients with more complex environmental challenges, including hoarding situations, severe contamination, and properties requiring deep sanitisation. Each environment is carefully assessed, risks are controlled, and a structured cleaning approach is implemented to restore the space to a safe, habitable condition.

We recognise that every situation is unique. For this reason, our services are tailored to meet the specific needs of each property and client. Whether working with families, landlords, businesses, or public sector organisations, our role is to remove the physical and emotional burden of hazardous cleaning - delivering a discreet, compliant, and dependable service from start to finish.

Discover More About Biohazard Cleaning

Biohazard cleaning is a specialist service focused on making contaminated environments safe, hygienic, and fully restored after hazardous incidents. These situations can include trauma scenes, bodily fluid contamination, sewage spills, infectious disease exposure, and other environments that require professional decontamination beyond everyday cleaning standards.

The risks involved in biohazard environments are often invisible to the eye. Harmful pathogens and airborne contaminants can remain present within a property, posing potential health hazards if not handled correctly. Because of this, every stage of the cleaning process must follow strict safety regulations and controlled procedures to reduce risk and prevent cross-contamination.

Carrying out biohazard cleaning requires a high level of training, technical knowledge, and professionalism. Specialist operatives must understand how to assess contamination, use industrial-grade equipment safely, wear protective PPE correctly, and dispose of hazardous materials in line with legal guidelines. Just as importantly, these situations often require sensitivity, discretion, and respect for the people affected.

At Safespaces, every biohazard clean is handled with care, precision, and a commitment to protecting both people and property through safe and responsible decontamination practices.

BIOHAZARDS ARE DANGEROUS

Biohazards like blood, urine, vomit, and faeces can contain harmful pathogens that can cause serious health risks if left untreated.

BIOHAZARD CLEANING IS SPECIALISED

It's a meticulous process that involves removing, disposing of, and decontaminating areas that have been contaminated with biological hazards.

BIOHAZARD CLEANING IS REGULATED

It's governed by strict health regulations to ensure the safety of the public and the people doing the cleaning.

BIOHAZARD CLEANING REQUIRES PROFESSIONALS

It's important to hire a professional biohazard cleaning company because they have the expertise and equipment to handle hazardous waste safely.

BIOHAZARD CLEANING INVOLVES RISK ASSESSMENTS

The process includes risk assessments and the use of industrial-grade cleaning agents.

IF EXPOSED TO BIOHAZARDS, SEEK MEDICAL HELP

If you are exposed to biohazards and show any symptoms of a bloodborne disease, you should seek medical treatment as soon as possible.

Our Specialist Biohazard Services

Needle Sweeps, Sharps & Drug Den Clean Ups

Due to the risk of working with needles & sharps, it is classed as a biohazard. There are many risks associated with sharps clean ups, with exposure to viruses including HIV, hepatitis B and C. Needles and sharps can be found in places you wouldn't even think of! This is where we have the correct training to safely remove and dispose of so the property is safe in order for your return.

Trauma & Decomposition Cleanups

This service is bespoke and catered to you, and we understand that dealing with the scene of a death can be traumatising. The objective of this type of service is to make the area safe, remove contaminated waste and perform a thorough clean to remove and eliminate pathogens. We deal with all of our services professionally, with aim to offer a sensitive and fast clean up.

Toxic And Foul Odours & Their Elimination

Toxic and foul odours are often a key indicator of underlying biohazard contamination, commonly arising from decomposition, bodily fluids, mould growth, waste accumulation, or neglected environments. These odours are not only unpleasant but can also pose potential health risks if the source is not properly addressed. Professional biohazard cleaning involves identifying and removing the root cause of the odour, rather than simply masking it.

Mould Removal & Sealing

Mould is a major health hazard and carries the same risk category as Aspestos. We are professionals in this field and have been professionally trained in the safe removal and sealing of mould.
